

Dear/Hello (first),

I hope this email finds you well. I'm writing to you on behalf of seven incredible nonprofit organizations that share a common passion for promoting literacy and education in underserved communities in Africa and Haiti. We are thrilled to announce our upcoming joint fundraising initiative, "LIFE: Literacy Is For Everyone," and we would be honored to have your support in this transformative endeavor.

On October 13, 2023, at the Dovetail Building (1307 2nd Ave N, Minneapolis, MN) in Minneapolis, we will come together to celebrate the power of diversity and the collective impact we can achieve. LIFE represents an unprecedented collaboration among seven strong, diverse, and women-led organizations united in our commitment to promoting education and literacy in communities that need it the most.

What is LIFE?

- Individually, our organizations have made significant strides in bridging the educational gap and empowering disadvantaged communities. However, we firmly believe that our collective efforts can yield an even greater impact and create lasting change. As the African proverb wisely states, "If you want to go fast, go alone. If you want to go far, go together." By joining forces, we are amplifying our reach, expanding our programs, and maximizing our effectiveness.
- At the heart of this partnership lies our shared commitment to collaboration and our unwavering determination to make a significant difference. We stand united in our dedication to promoting literacy and education as a means to empower individuals and transform communities. Together, we aim to align our efforts with the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goal for Education (SDG4) and ensure that every individual, regardless of their background, has access to quality education.
- This initiative represents our shared commitment to collaboration and our determination to make a significant difference while maximizing our impact to expand our programs and provide more resources to those we serve.

Your sponsorship will directly enable us to expand our educational programs, provide essential resources to underserved communities, offer teacher training, improve infrastructure, and distribute educational materials to those in need.

Your sponsorship will be prominently featured in our extensive social media marketing campaigns, as well as in our event marketing materials. Moreover, we would be honored to extend an invitation to you as an esteemed guest at the LIFE
